

Relationship #16

The egg-eating snake invades bird nests engulfs and swallows eggs and then leaves. Lol
The snake benefits directly from this relationship by securing a food source. The individual prey animal receives no benefit in this relationship. The prey organism is killed in this relationship. This relationship does have an impact on the physical and behavioral adaptations of the remaining population prey population descendents.